

MBOT gets ready for business awards

Louie Rosella

September 1, 2009

Mississauga Board of Trade will host its 2009 Business Awards of Excellence Nov. 19 at the International Centre. The awards honour the efforts of successful Mississauga businesses whose achievements have made important contributions to the economic well-being of Mississauga and its citizens, MBOT officials say.

More than 300 people attended last year's event. This year's gathering, which includes a gourmet dinner, entertainment and cocktail reception, will again be a gala affair, officials say. It includes presentations from Mayor Hazel McCallion, MBOT representatives and special guests.

Winners are selected in categories that include environmental excellence, technology and innovation, and business person of the year.

lrosella@mississauga.net

Taking care of business. Mississauga Board of Trade will host its 2009 Business Awards of Excellence Nov. 19 at the International Centre. Seen here from left are Ken Nugent, Publisher of The Mississauga News and Sheldon Leiba, President & CEO MBOT at the MBOT Politicians Appreciation evening last month.

This article is for personal use only courtesy of Mississauga.com - a division of Metroland Media Group Ltd.